AUTOMOBILE SMASH-UP ON HIGHWAY NEAR SAN CARLOS

A big racing car driven by A. Strong of Palo Alto collided with a roadster driven by Dr. O. S. Kucich of San Francisco Saturday night near San Carlos. The force of the impact flung the racing car back and it was struck by another machine coming directly behind it and owned by Charles Brenhan of Honolulu.

The Strong and Brenhan cars were completely wrecked and the roadster badly damaged. The occupants of the Brenhan car were thrown out but escaped unhurt. In the racing car with Strong was his wife and J. Eckhart of Palo Alto. The latter was badly cut and may have sustained internal injuries. Neither Strong or his wife was injured and Dr. Kucich and a young lady with him, escaped with slight bruises.

"Pioneer Day" At The Fair

On October 16, "Pioneer and Old Settler Day" at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, all California from Siskiyou on the north to San Diego on the south, will pay tribute to the "men of '49", whos adventurous spirit and courage foresight has placed the state where it is today, with its great development and fame throughout the Union. Those who came west between the years 1846 and 1860 will be guests of honor. All sons and daughters of the pioneers and the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West will be asked to assist at the celebration.

The Southern Pacific Company, as one of the State's pioneers, is offering every co-operation, through its officers and other employees. From all points in California to San Francisco a special fare with a return limit of fifteen days will be offered over its lines, effective on October 15th and 16th. This will be in addition to the special fares with a three months' return limit on sale daily to the Exposition, and will give everyone a chance to attend.

THE REXALL KID, RENOWNED TRAVELER, ARRIVES HERE.

The "Rexall Kid" arrived in town Friday evening. His name is Laurence Kelly and he is 30 years old. He is one of the most traveled men of his years in the world, having crossed the continent nineteen times, the Atlantic Ocean four times and the Pacific Ocean three times.

He carries a big pack of letters and credentials from all parts of the globe. Upon his arrival in town he promptly reported at the Ryan Company's big Rexall store on Main and Broadway. He has visited every Rexall store in country and is now busy getting together a Rexall boost.

The Kid is perhaps one of the most pitcuresque travelers that has ever visited Redwood. He says he travels on his nerve. "That's what Rexall means," says the kid. "Rex means king." Rexall stands for kind of all. A man can't be king of all without having nerve.

Duffy left Saturday for San Francisco, from which city he expects to sail shortly for Honolulu.

Miss Hanley will still retain the office of treasurer of the Parlor, the members refusing to accept her resignation, and she will come down once a month to attend the meetings.

The home of Chris Peters on Pine street was badly gutted by fire last Sunday morning. The fire is supposed to have started when a can of paint left standing on a stove in the basement boiled over and ignited some paper on the floor.

An alarm was rung in from box 43. The fire department was quickly on the scene and, despite a heavy wind that was blowing at the time, soon had the flames under control, but not before damage to the amount of several hundred dollars had been done.

YE WISDOM OF THE OWL

Cities like persons possess personality and tired humankind feels his chemistry drawn to that city which appeals to his gregarious instinct. Here he brings his ledger and till and marvels that if all the spots on earth this one is home to him. Here he makes his meager clientele of friends and that concourse of acquaintances. While in busy barter and sagacious sale he waxes wize in dollar wisdom, that brings surcease from poverty. Other scenes and other years merge their importance into tht present circumstances, of this, his chosen place. He is a citizen of the community, its interests are his interests, its needs, his needs. The attractiveness of a city's personality brings into it a large population, as surely as personal charm draws unto the individual a host of friends. This city possesses a sturdy, charming, personality and daily homeseeking people are yielding to its appeal. Homeseeker you cannot enter the confines of this city and escape its personal charm, nor ignore its spirit of personified self confidence and you dare not neglect the opportunity thrust upon you by its rugged, rapid growth.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

NON-PARTISANISM A FAILURE

The Oakland Enquirer in a recent issue published the following editorial in opposition to the non-partisan primary law:

Not only has direct primary partisanship proven successful in the hands of the people of California, but non-partisanship, according to the claims of not a few of the supporters of non-partisanism, has proven a failure. For, not a few of these supporters are demanding that our judges shall no longer be even non-partisanly elected, but that they shall be appointed. Now, for the same length of time that we have been successfully choosing our non-judicial state officials, through partisanism and the direct primary, we have been (dangerously, so many of the supporters of non-partisanship claim) electing our judges non-partisanly. Formerly, without the direct primary, we elected our judges partisanly. We didn't like the results. So we decreed that the judges should be elected non-partisanly, with the direct primary. But, according to not a few of those who are loudest in advocacy of non-partisanism in the election of all other public officials, the non-partisan election of judges has, for many reasons, proven unsatisfactory. The only difference, however, between the method by which we have successfully chosen, for the past five years, our non-judicial state officials and the method by which we have, for the same five years chosen our judicial state officials, is this: Our non-judicial state officials have been nominated and elected partisanly, while our judicial officials have been noninated and elected non-partisanly. The results, which have suited the vast majority of us, have been achieved partisanly while not a few of those who are thus satisfied are dissatisfied with non-partisanism in the selection of our judges—so dissatisfied that they do not want the judges elected at all, but appointed. Now, if those supporters of non-partisanism in the nomination and election of non-judicial state officials are correct who say that non-partisanism in the choosing of judicial state officials is a failure, by what rule of thumb can they argue that non-partisanism for non-judicial state officials ought to supplant partisanism? If non-partisanism, plus the direct primary, is dangerous when judicial officials are to be chosen, how can it be argued that non-partisanism, plus the direct primary, will not be less dangerous when non-judicial state officials are to be chosen? Especially is the answer to this question difficult when it is admitted that partisanism, plus the direct primary, has proven successful every time it has been used by the people of California.

But it is said by Speaker Young and others that non-partisanism has proven satisfactory in the election of city officials non-partisanly. Mayor Mott was elected non-partisanly four years ago. Rightly or wrongly, the people became dissatisfied with him, although he had before been partisanly elected three times in succession. So, as a protest against Mott, Davie was elected—also non-partisanly. The latter has been in office something like three months. From what one hears on the street it would appear that the people of Oakland are even more tired of Mayor Davie after three months than they were of Mayor Mott after ten years. It would, therefore, appear that non-partisanism has not produced the political millennium in Oakland which its supporters claim it will produce in the state at large. Los Angeles, too, has had several years of experience with non-partisanism in choosing her mayors. But, with the single exception of Alexander every non-partisan mayor of the City of the Angels has been elected over the protests of most, if not all, of the Los Angeles leaders of the Progressive party, who are now insisting on non-partisanism in state politics. Non-partisanism, therefore, it is entirely fair to say, has not produced results in municipal politics that have been satisfactory to all our non-partisan, Los Angeleno Progressive friends and brothers. For it has given them only one mayor, Alexander, who was satisfactory to them all; and two mayors, Rose and Sebastian, against whom most of them protested. It may be, though, that anybody is lucky who succeeds in being satisfied with one mayor in three. Berkeley has had experience with non-partisanism. It gave her Stitt Wilson. As a nominee of the Socialist party, his election would have been impossible. As a non-partisan, but still a Socialist, he was elected.

JOHN D. BARRY'S NEW BOOK

John D. Barry, author "The City of Domes," which Edwin Markham, the California writer, calls "our best all round volume on the great Exposition," has made a little paper-covered book from the lecture he delivers twice a week on the Exposition grounds, in Festival Hall. It is beautifully prnted, with an ornimental cover, and it is published at 25 cents in an envelope which carries the suggestion that when the reader has taken in all its points in twenty minutes or half and hour, he may send it to a friend at the cost of a penny stamp. It is intended for those who wish to understand the Exposition without making an elaborate study. It is simply and clearly written and it makes plain what the architects the mural decorators and sculptors tried to do and why they did it in that particular way.

If you don't like dogs are you sure the fault is the dog's and not yours?

SCHOOL FACILITIES

New schools were needed in Redwood many years ago because of growth. New schools are needed today for the same reason. We should enlarge educationally as we have from the point of population. The schools of Redwood have a statewide reputation for efficiency. Let us earn a reputation for sufficiency. The population of Burlingame and San Mateo has increased materially in the last few years. So has the number of their schools. Redwood's population, in the last year, has increased at a greater rate than any city "down the peninsula," but it still has the same number of schools. We should remedy this on November 2nd by voting for the bonds which will enable us to build the required schools. A vote against the issue is a sign of provincialism. A vote for the issue is a sign of progress.

The Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the bond issue. Commercially they know the value of schools in community development work. They know that every man of a family proposing to come here will ask about the school system and will move on unless he finds it to his liking. Other cities see that their school systems are up-to-date. Let Redwood do the same.

Are children naturally cruel to animals? Children are generally just about what their parents train them to be.

McGettigan, the well-known newspaperman, resides in this city. Another son, Dr.McGettigan has a suburban home at Portola. ONLY A DOG

"Only a dog!"—And yet a dog is the truest of all friends, the most forgiving, the most generous.

He will go with his master anywhere, and if fairly treated is always happiest at his side.

He would live with him in poverty and suffering rather than in luxury without him.

Whether of high breeding, and his value counted by the hundreds, or the weakest halfstarved cur that roams the city's streets, the faithful, loving heart is the same.

You cannot give the poor outcast the least kndness—a crust of bread, a dipper of water, even a pat and a kind word—without awaking a gratitude that brightens his eye and changes his whole aspect.

If you, or any of your friends, are bitten by a dog supposed to be mad, under no circumstances have the dog destroyed, if you can prevent it. If he is affected with rabies he will surely die in a few days. Confine him where he can neither harm himself nor anyone else. If he recovers, as in the majority of cases he probably will, you will not be obliged to live in fear of some day developing hydrophobia.

Methodist Church.

Every-member day will be observed next Sunday at the Methodist church. There will be many things of special interest on that day. A number of new members will be received and a very encouraging report will be made of recent progress. There will also be a baptismal service in the morning. Parents who desire to have their children baptised are invited to bring them to the 11 o'clock service. The pastor will give his usual five minute talk to the children during this service. One special feature of the 7:30 evening service will be a violin trio. Every member, all parents of the Sunday school scholors, and all friends of the congregation who have no obligations elsewhere are most cordially invited to unite in making this a red letter day in the church.

Woodside Happenings

George D. Squires, the well-known railroad attorney and clubman, will be married in San Francisco today to a charming lady from Texas. The honeymoon is to be spent in the southern part of the state. Mrs. Maurice Doyle, a pioner resident of this county for many years and one of the original settlers in the old village of Searsville, lies dangerously ill at the home of Mrs. John Kelly in Woodside. On account of her extreme age very little hope is held out for Mrs. Doyle's recovery.

Coastside Gleanings

Frank Marsh's threshing rig pulled in a few days ago after a most successful season's run. Nine thousand sacks constituted the season's total; 3160 of which was threshed at Millbrae and Mayfield, the remainder was run in other parts of the county. It seems there is yet much grain grown in San Mateo county, although not nearly so much as in former years when immense cargoes of grain, grown in this rich valley left Amesport landing—often several boats in a single week. Those were good days, old timers say.

George Britton, principal of the South San Francisco schools, Tax Collector A. McSweeney and Dr. J. C. McGovern spent last Sunday on the coastside.

Father Andriano went to Morgan Hill Tuesday to bid farewell to Father Cavenini who will soon leave for Italy.

A delightful time occurred at the home of Miss Lizzie Albrecht last Saturday night when she was hostess to The Club of the Fourteen. Various games made the time pass pleasantly indeed. Very toothsome refreshments were served. Everybody had such a good time that it seemed hard to break away.

Robert Chatham Buys Ranch

Robert Chatham has purchased the Horseshoe cattle ranch of 1280 acres six miles from Willits in Mendocino County. It is one of the best ranches in that section of the state, being well watered and with a heavy growth of timber and a railroad passes close to the property. The deal was closed on Wednesday when Attorney J. J. Bullock and Mr. Chatham journeyed to Ukiah where the records were examined and the deed filed. Mr. Chatham and his family will leave in a few days for the ranch to permanently reside. Mr. Chatham's property here was deeded to the ranch owner as part payment of the purchase price. The ex-Sheriff will engage in the cattle business extensively hoping to ship large herds to market every year.

LADIES OF MOUNT CARMEL HOLD SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR

The bazaar given by the ladies of Mount Carmel Church last week was a big success in every way. The Alhambra theatre, where the affair was held was crowded nightly by eager buyers who found the different booths laden with all kinds of useful and tempting articles. The icecream, refreshment and candy booths were all well patronized.

The ladies in charge of the various booths worked hard and they are deserving of great credit for the successful outcome of the bazaar. The convent children also contributed in various ways toward the success of the fair, their attractive programs each evening being particularly appreciated. The festival came to a close Monday evening.

AUTO CAPSIZES AND KILLS THREE-YEAR-OLD CHILD.

A distressing automobile accident occurred on the State Highway near Bernasque's Sunday evening, which resulted in the death of little three-year-old Anna Behnken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Benken of 1021 Evans street, San Francisco.

The Benkens were returning from a pleasure trip down the peninsula. Just as they approached Atherton, the father made a short turn to avoid colliding with several pedestrians and the machine turned over. The little girl was pinned underneath. She was rushed to the Red Cross hospital, San Mateo, but was dead when examined by the doctors. The father and mother were only slightly injured.

CHASE TO PITCH FOR SEALS ON TRIAL AGAINST OAKS

Redwood to Play Return Game With New Eras Tomorrow

The locals lost last Sunday to the San Francisco Moose team by a score of 4 to 3 after a most spectacular rally in the ninth inning. Coming to bat with the score 4 to 0 against them, the Redwoods pulled themselves together and by a fierce slugging spell brought in three runs with one out and a man on second, but Jennings and Valencia were not equal to the task of bringing Payne home. Casey's and Payne's two baggers in the ninth brought home the locals' runs.

Tommy Keating pitched for the Moose. He pitched several good games when twirling for the locals for the three seasons he was here, but never did he pitch like he did last Sunday. Control was perfect and he had lots of stuff on the ball. Several classy plays were made by both teams and a double play was made by each outfit.

Tomorrow the locals meet the New Eras in a return game. The previous contests resulted in a close 5-4 victory for Redwood after the fastest played game of the season. The visitors have even strengthened their already formidable lineup and are confident of winning. The fur is sure to fly when the game gets going.

Reeves will again toss them up for the New Eras and Chase for Redwood.

Harold Chase, the local twirler, is to report to Boss Wolverton of the Seals next Tuesday and it is the intention of the latter to use Chase in one of the games against Oakland next week.

Justin Fitzgerald informed Ray Griffin, the local manager, that he took the matter up with Wolverton and secured his promise to give Chase every chance and a thorough-tryout.

Local fans will be glad to hear of this and sereval are already planning to take in the game if the day Chase pitches can be definitely found out.

Chase has the good wishes of the community for his success.

ELLISON-WHITE CHAUTAUQUA FOR REDWOOD CITY

Many Noted Speakers and the Best Musicians to Appear

"Genius is one fourth inspiration and three fourths perspiration," says Nels Darling, the "Home Town" lecturer on the Ellison-White Chautauqua circuit this year. This man has done wonderful work and talks in an interesting forceful way of town and community problems and how to meet them; a man of ideals not too high to be practical.

The class of musical artists, speakers humorists and entertainers are all of recognized ability and high standing. Many of the singers are secured from New York opera companies and are of unquestioned worth. The music is of wide range, from the vocal and instrumental solo to the big band. Everyone loves a good band. Ciricillo's band has been booked for two successful seasons throughout the west.

The "System Chautauqua,, carries its own tent and equipment and furnishes its own advertising matter. The tents seat comfortably two thousand people. The tent crew is composed of young college men hired by the bureau for the summer months. A number of these large tents are placed in towns on the circuit and the talent travels each day from one point to another. This year the talent comprised about 150 people and arrived in San Francisco in a special train from Chicago to begin work on the circuit.

The Chautauqua consists of not less than a six day assembly with an entire change of program each day. In the morning a Junior Chautauqua is held for the young folks, presided over by a lady superintendent. Many have said that these courses of "supervised play" for the children are worth the price of the entire chautauqua. Training children how to play along right lines is indeed a problem.

Charles H. Large, representing the Ellison-White bureau is in Redwood City with a view to organize a committee to handle the work here. He states that already there is manifested considerable interest in the coming of the Chautauqua and that the prospects are exceedingly bright for an assembly in this community.

San Mateo Bank Official Embezzler

C. M. Roberts, who is charged with embezzling $12,500 of the funds of the First National Bank of San Mateo and who was arrested on complaint of U. S. District Attorney Preston, had his hearing in the U. S. District Court yesterday afternoon. His bail is fixed at $10,000 and up until a late hour last evening Roberts was unable to secure bondsmen. The First National Bank is fully protected against the loss as Roberts had a surety bond covering nearly that amount. His home has been deeded to the institution. The shortage of Roberts has in no way affected the business of the bank as the deposits are even greater than ever before. Hall C. Ross is president of the institution. Among the stockholders of the institution are: Henry T. Scott, The Grant Company, Pope Estate Company, Shrieve Estate, E. W. Howard Estate, Francis Carolin, W. F. Turnbull and other wealthy residents of San Mateo and Burlingame.

New Actions in the Superior Court

R. E. Steele, through his attorneys, Ross and Ross, have brought an action in the superior court against Leon Lorraine and others to quiet title to the "Cascade Ranch," twelve miles south of Pescadero. The ranch consists of 2000 acres but a portion of it has been sold leaving 1578 acres to be quieted.

The San Mateo Planing Mill Company has commenced an action in the superior court against W. L. Gott to recover the sum of $3963.42 for lumber and building material furnished defendant at his request during the four years last past. Included in the sum is the interest. Plaintiff also asks for his costs.

Breach of Contract Suit

Anna A. King, a school teacher, has brought an action in the superior court against the trustees of the Millbrae grammar school to recover the sum of $1080 for an alleged breach of contract. The members of the board are Stephen Throwell, F. A. McNulty and Peter Gouzenes. S. K. Frazer, formerly a member of the board, recently resigned and Stephen Throwell was appointed by the superintendent of schools in his place. The complaint alleges that in June 1915, the trustees entered into a contract with plaintiff whereby she was to be principal of the Lomita Park school for a period of one year at a monthly salary of $90. Her employment was to begin on August 9th of this year and end on August 9th of next year. She appeared at the proper time to open the school. She was told that she was not wanted and that another teacher had been employed in her place. Plaintiff brings suit to recover the full year's salary, to wit, the sum of $1080. Costello and Costello of San Francisco are her attorneys.

Divorce Decree Granted

Judge Buck has granted a final decree of divorce to Alice Morel from her husband, Fay Morel. The interlocutory decree was granted on September 29th, 1914. By the terms of the latter decree the minor child, Lawrence Fay Morel, aged 14 years, was awarded to the mother. She was also given the sum of $20 per month for the support and education of the minor. The Morels were married in San Francisco on May 6th, 1899. There is no community property.

Files Notice of Appeal

J. Early Craig, the plaintiff in the action entitled J. Early Craig against James A. Lee, et al, on Wednesday filed a notice of appeal to the court of appeals of this district from the decision recently rendered in the case against Craig and in favor of the Lees. The suit was commenced by Craig to recover attorney fees in the sum of $650 from defendants. The court held that plaintiff was barred by the statute of limitations. Mr. Craig hopes to secure a reversal by the introduction of certain letters in his possession.

Damages Awarded

Judge Buck on Wednesday decided the case of Walter Sealy against Samuel Knight, the well-known attorney and club man of Hillsborough. The court awarded damages to the plaintiff in the sum of $250. The suit was filed on June 1st, 1913. The complaint alleged that plaintiff was driving a double team in the vicinity of El Cerrito Park on March 23rd, 1913 and was run intoby Knight's automobile which was being driven in the opposite direction. One of the animals driven by Sealy was killed, the tongue of the vehicle broken and the harness badly damaged. Plaintiff alleged negligence and carelessness on the part of the chauffeur, who was driving for defendant. Sealy asked for $750 as the value of the horse and the sum of $250 for damage to the carriage, $15 for damage to the harness and further sum of $25 penalty for negligence in failing to turn to the right of the center of the highway on meeting the vehicle of plaintiff so as to allow him to pass without interference. The court has rendered the following decision:

"This is an action for damages claimed by plaintiff from defendant by reason of the fact that defendant's automobile collided with plaintiff's carriage, causing the damage sued for herein. The case has been well presented and with the view I have of the facts this opinion will be brief. The chauffeur of the defendant admits he saw plaintiffs carriage at a distance of seventy-five feet before the collision. That admission is fatal to defendant's case. In that seventy-five feet and in fact in much less than that distance he could have stopped his automobile if he so desired. It requires no expert testimony upon that point. Such being the fact the defendant is liable in damages but not in the amount claimed. For a much less sum than claimed for the repairs of the carriage and harness in this day another vehicle and harness could be purchased and the value of the horse is very much over estimated. Plaintiff will have judgment for $250."

Encouraging Letter Received From Denver Visitor

H. C. Tuchsen, secretary of the County P. P. I. E. The following is the letter from a well-known society woman of Denver:

Denver Oct. 7th, 1915.

To the Ladies of the San Mateo Booth:—

I was one of the fortunate ones who visited the P. P. I. E. this summer. At many booths post-cards were given me, and we find them very interesting to use in our little daughter's "radioptian" which entertains and amuses us all. The other evening we showed a picture of the San Mateo Booth in the California Building and it was a happy reminder of what to me was an exhibition original and beautiful—such lovely jems and flowers nothing but "Beauty" and so I want to write just these few lines to let you know how much, I for one, was glad you showed only flowers for a change.

Very Cordially Yours,
